“ So sorry to learn of Darline's passing. I married into the Hill family in 1965, and was always treated like a member of the family. Darline's smile always warmed my heart when I would see her and all the family.
If possible she would make my mother in law a gooseberry pie if she knew we were coming in for a visit.
God bless her family and pray they are at peace knowing she loved them.

“ I met Darline when I was 18 years old working at L.T. York in Brookfield. She had a larger than life personality and a kooky sense of style. Even though we were working in a factory she always brought her A-game when it came to her accessory's. She loved her necklaces and ear rings....the crazier the better! I would tease her on occasion about her earnings. After I left L.T. York I would run into her from time to time at Caseys in town. She always had a smile on her face and a piece of gum in her mouth and always made the time to talk to me. After I moved to the city one Christmas I received a package from her containing a pair of jingle bell earrings. She included a card which said since I always admired her earrings... she wanted me to have a pair of my own. For almost 15 years I would receive a pair of earring in the mail with a little note attached. I couldn't wait to see what they looked like and to read her note which always concluded with "God Bless you Dear". Well Darline.... God did bless me because I had the good fortune of having you in my life. I received my final pair of earrings from her in June (they had been lost in the mail since December). I sat down tonight to write her a note and discovered she had passed away. I had meant to do this on several occasions but life kept getting in the way. One painful lesson I've learned from this is that tomorrow is not promised and you have to cherish every moment you get to spend with those you love. Even though I hadn't seen Darline in a few years I knew my friend was out there and if I was lucky.... my "funny jewelry" would find its way to me at Christmas. I know you are finally at peace and you are in heaven right now wearing some gawdy ear rings and dancing to the beat of your own drum.
God Bless you Dear,
Love,
Joy

“ I will miss you Darline, you were a great friend to my Dad. You are part of the reason I am addicted to chocolate. She always brought candy when she came over or we went over to see her. Tell Dad hi from me. You will be missed.
