“ Sympathy to the family. Johnny was a friend since childhood. We did all-night fishing trips with Banty and Bessie. Sleeping on blankets on the creek bank, Aunt Bessie's strong black coffee on the camp fire all night. We went coon hunting with Banty, following the hounds in the dark, crashing through brush, briars, falling in creeks. After the hunt, riding home packed in the back of the pickup with the wet bloody dogs. Haven't seen Johnny for a long time now, but last we talked, he mentioned he was Pall Bearer for my mother, Virginia's funeral, and I was Pall Bearer for his mother, Bessie. Rest in Peace, Johnny. Cousin, Mike Harrison
