“Marcy and I became friends when we both worked for Apple in Austin, Texas. We shared with each other our experiences in caring for our mothers and husbands. After she moved back to Missouri, we stayed in close contact via phone and text messages. We shared many stories about our children and grandchildren and what was going on in our lives. I am going to miss sharing with her. Her brothers, children, grandchildren and other family and friends will be in my thoughts and prayers. Susan B.”
