“Yep! The good ol' days of womens' fastpitch!! Reita was a true competitor but after the game, a true friend. She was never afraid to express herself, but most often with that smile of hers. Even with softball long past us, when we crossed paths we'd have a visit. So sorry for your loss Amy and family! Thoughts and prayers! We'll see her again, with the promise and blessed hope of our Savior! Keep the fond memories close to your hearts!

“ Reita was always one of my favorite coworkers when we were in desktop together. She was always so full of fire and attitude, how could you not adore her! My son was her little buddy when he was small and he always made to sure to show her his cardinals gear! You will be so dearly missed, but I know that you and your hubby have missed each other and are happy to be together again.

“ When Arlo was born, at 24 weeks, Mema was the first person to say he was going to survive because he was stubborn, because he was part Brumbaugh. And the day she held him for the first time she said he was going to be smart and strong. And of course she was right.

“ There are so many to share. Probably the one phrase that sticks out the most from playing ball ...don't swing at the first pitch! Here's to you Reita, hope you have a great team of players in Heaven.
