“Sgt" Roylene. I will always remember you paying me for working in your yard when I spent the night with you and grandma Stubbs. Then you would teach me about finances and showed me that rent would need to come out of that and the utilities that I used as well. Some may think it cruel but it gave me an early understanding about finances. You always had valuable life lessons to teach. You were so smart and such a strong woman even to the very end. I will miss you forever and always. Say hello to grandma for me!! I cannot wait to see you all again. RIP.
