“ One of my fondest fishing memories is fishing in the Niangua River, just outside Bennett Springs with Wayne, and my dad, Ray. (probably around early 1980s) Inside the State Park, fishermen use fancy gear, dress in "proper" attire, etc... Wayne showed us how he fished the river in his youth, wearing tennis shoes, bibs, and minimal equipment.....just a fly rod, a few hooks, saltine crackers in a minnow trap, and a six pack! We had a blast catching smallmouth bass that day. I'll never forget it. I cherish the memories of Wayne and the friendship he and my dad knew.
